

Citizen Media and the Rise of Video Podcasting

Presented at The Camera Company's 16th Annual Pro Video Show, Boston Marriott Quincy, March 10, 2006

---

Guided Tour

Chasing Windmills

<http://chasingmills.blogspot.com>

Drive Time

<http://drivetime.ravijain.org>

Echo Chamber Project

<http://echochamberproject.com>

Four Eyed Monsters

<http://foureyedmonsters.com>

Rocketboom

<http://rocketboom.com>

Vlog Soup

<http://stevegarfield.blogs.com>

The Carol and Steve Show

<http://stevegarfield.blogs.com>

Viviendo con Fallas

<http://viviendoconfallas.blogspot.com>

Josh Leo

<http://joshleo.blogspot.com>

Welcome to Amyville

<http://welcometoamyville.blogspot.com>

Tiki Bar TV

<http://tikibartv.com>

Secret Vlog Injection

<http://blogumentary.typepad.com/vlog/>

Ehrensensf

<http://ehrensensf.de>

It's JerryTime!

<http://itsjerrytime.com>

Eric Rice

<http://ericrice.com>

ZipZapZop

<http://zipzapzop.com>

---

Presenters

Steve Garfield

<http://stevegarfield.com>

Steve is an independent Boston-based video producer, editor, and videoblogger and a leader in the citizen media revolution. Garfield's videoblog (stevegarfield.blogs.com) features several popular videoblog shows including "The Carol and Steve Show," and "Vlog Soup," the vlogosphere tour-guide show. He is also the Boston correspondent for Rocketboom.com, blogs about pop culture and technology at OffOnATangent.com, and covers videoblogging news for WeAreTheMedia.com.

Ravi Jain

<http://ravijain.org>

Ravi is an artist based in Jamaica Plain and uses new and emerging technologies to explore and extend a spirit of adventure. In 2002 he launched the autobiographical web sitcom "Three Abreast!" (three-abreast.com), melding QuickTime video with triggered enhanced content ("The Comedy Extender"). Ravi currently produces "DriveTime," a weekly video blog talk show out of his car as he commutes to work (drivetime.ravijain.org). He works at WGBH, developing interactive content for the PBS series American Experience and teaches at Northeastern University's Multimedia Studies Program.

David Tamés

<http://Kino-Eye.com>

David is a producer, cinematographer, editor, and media technologist. Back in the stone age (1996) he was on the creative team that produced the "The East Village," an award-winning, cutting-edge episodic entertainment web site weaving together text, images, audio, and video to tell the story of a group of friends living in New York. David's consulting work often involves a mix of storytelling and technology. He has been a speaker at conferences and industry events in the U.S., Europe, and Latin America. David blogs at Kino-Eye.com and is a regular contributor to New England Film (NEFilm.com) and Imagine (ImagineNews.com).